I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original on file in this office.

In witness whereof, I have hereto set my hand and affixed my official seal the [L. S.] day and year above written.

GRANT GREEN, Auditor.

No. 102—Revised.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, Ky.,

Frankfort, 21st March, 1863.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY, That Jno. B. Temple, as Agent of the Liverpool and London Fire and Life Insurance Company, of Liverpool, England, at Frankfort, Kentucky, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate Agencies of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1855; and it having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said Company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, the said Jno. B. Temple, as Agent as aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance at his office in Frankfort, for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that since the filing of the statements above referred to, the available capital of said Company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

[L. S.] IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have set my hand the day and year above written.

THE COMMONWEALTH. FRANKFORT.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1864

The Governor's Mansion will be open for the reception of visitors every Monday evening during the session of the Legislature, from 8 to 11 o'clock.

The committee on Claims is now preparing the general appropriation bill. All persons having claims against the State, will present them to that committee immediately.
R. J. BROWNE,
Chairman of Committee on Claims.

The committee of Propositions and Grievances will meet at 3 o'clock every day during the balance of the session in the Hall of the House of Representatives. Members of said committee will please take notice and attend promptly.
JOHN S. McFARLAND, Cln.

Session Extended.—On yesterday the Senate adopted the House resolution extending the session beyond the constitutional limit of sixty days. There is no time fixed for adjournment; but it is in the power of the majority to order a recess at any time, and fix a day for the re-assembly of the Legislature. We presume an adjournment over to next fall or winter will be ordered, as soon as the Legislature close up their important business.

The Senate yesterday also concurred in the resolution of the House regarding the joint order for the election of United States Senators. So there will be no Senator elected this winter.

Rumors of rebel-raids into Kentucky are rare. The hands are generally represented as small. Nothing else should be expected. The men engaged are not, however, members of any large organized body or rebel. They are those who have been permitted to come into the Federal lines, as deserters and refugees from the rebels, take the oath and scatter over the State. They are doubtless, thus sent into the State, because no organized force, as such, can come in. But thousands can come, as deserters and refugees; and whilst spying out the land, and waiting for the signal that shall rally them to some rebel chief, are robbing and murdering on their own account, to keep their hand in.

It is stated that Trinity School, a well-known Protestant Episcopal educational institution in New York, has, through the fortunate termination of a law suit, come into the possession of property, real estate and funded, to the value of $3,000,000. The suit has been a long contested one, extending through a period of some thirty years.

Twenty-second Kentucky.—The Louisville Democrat states that it has information that the "twenty-second Kentucky Infantry has recruited as Cavalry; and that they will be home in a few days.

Should this information prove correct, it is to be hoped that Frankfort will give the gallant boys of this noble regiment, a reception worthy of her loyal hospitality. The Twenty-second is peculiarly a Frankfort regiment, and her soldier-citizens—officers and men—have on many fields of blood and carnage proved their love of the Union—some even with their lifeblood. When they return home, show them you appreciate their services, their valor, and their devoted patriotism.

All honor to the 4th Kentucky cavalry for recruiting as veterans. A number of the officers of this heroic regiment are now visiting this city and enjoying the hospitality, for which its citizens are justly celebrated, during their brief respite from the arduous duties of camp life, and amongst them is Adjutant A. D. Hynes, who, with a few men, so gallantly fought a part of Morgan's command at Bardonia, last July. A. D. H. is a true soldier, courteous gentleman and a clever fellow. We trust speedy promotion awaits him. "We are very glad to see you," Adjutant Hynes.

The Court of Inquiry to investigate the conduct of Gen. Crittenden, McCook, and Negley, and the issue between Gen. Rosecrans and Wood, after assembling at Nashville, adjourned to Louisville and is now in session at that city.

Butcher and the Negroes.—General Butler notwithstanding he is so maliciously abused by the rebels, is more entitled to their thanks than most of the other commanders in their States for the services he has rendered them. He has recently issued a general order, in which he forbids negroes who leave their masters and come into his lines from bringing anything more than personal effects which belong to them, or such property as the officer commanding may order. He also dismissed a Colonel of one of the regiments for impressing negroes contrary to their free will.

The dinner given to Gen. Grant, at St. Louis, on the night of the 29th ult., appears to have been a brilliant affair. Major Generals Rosecrans and Schofield, Brigadier Generals Osterhaus, McNeil, Brown, Totten, Grey, and Fiske, a large number of Colonels and officers of lower rank, and some two hundred and fifty civilians were present. Speeches were made by most of the Generals present and a number of citizens, but Grant declined to extend his remarks beyond a mere return of thanks for the honor conferred.

Remarks of Hon. Brutus J. Clay,

January 25, 1864, on the occasion of a discussion between Hon. G. C. Smith, Hon. Robert Mallory, and Hon. Wm. H. Wadsworth, in which the two latter gentlemen had arraigned Mr. Smith for voting for Mr. Colfax, and acting with the Union Republican party. Mr. Clay, the Representative from this district, understanding some of the remarks of Mr. Mallory to refer to him, felt it his duty to take part in the discussion. We regret that we have not room at this time to publish the debate as it occurred; but will do so hereafter, should we obtain a copy of the official report:

Mr. Clay.—Mr. Chairman, I hope I will be pardoned for saying one word before this discussion is permitted to close. I would seem from what has been said by my colleague [Mr. Mallory], that all the members from Kentucky who voted for the present Speaker [Mr. Colfax] were recalcitrant to their State and their duty. I wish to understand these gentlemen, and whether they intended to include in their remarks every gentleman upon this floor from Kentucky who had the independence to vote for Mr. Colfax for Speaker? I ask the question for the reason that I have been denounced by the Louisville Journal and other papers in Kentucky with violating my pledges upon that subject. Standing here and listening to this debate and to the insinuations thrown out by those gentlemen, I desire to know whether I am included in their remarks, and am charged by them with violating my pledges? I am, I want them to say so.

Mr. Mallory.—I have not, in the most remote way, directly or indirectly, alluded to the gentleman. In replying to my colleague [Mr. Smith], I replied to his sentiments and I repudiated them, and I read from his speech in which he pledged himself to vote for a war Democrat for Speaker; and then I showed that he voted for Mr. Colfax. I do not know what the views of my colleague [Mr. Clay] are; whether he approves the proclamation of emancipation or not. I do not know anything about it, because he has said nothing. Therefore I beg he will not suppose I had any allusion in the world to him.

Mr. Clay.—I am very glad to hear the gentleman's candid explanation upon that point. But, as I am upon the floor, I wish to make an observation or two, so that I may stand fair before my constituents and the world. This very question as to whom I would vote for as Speaker of the House of Representatives was put to me on every occasion in my State, and I replied emphatically that I would make no pledges, that I would not pledge myself to vote for a Democrat or a Republican; that I intended to do what I thought right and proper under all the circumstances when I got here. I did not know the opinions of these gentlemen, and I thought I would be doing injustice to myself and to my constituents by making any such pledges. Indeed, I pledged myself that I would not make any pledge, and therefore I told them I wished it distinctly understood that I made no pledges upon the subject. Some of my constituents who never heard me speak have denounced me as violating my pledges—pledges which I never made—and that denunciation has been followed up here to some extent.

Mr. Mallory.—I will ask my colleague—Mr. Clay, I have heard that he said so—whether he did not, in the city of Frankfort, which is in his district, pledge himself during his canvass that he would not vote for a Republican unless he saw from actions here that something like an indefinite postponement of the organization of the House would be the result of his not doing so, but that in that event, and that event only, he would do so?

Mr. Clay.—I made no such pledge whatever. More than that, I stated I would not make any pledge. I stated it everywhere; and I felt at liberty here to canvass every claim and to vote for the best candidate, as I thought the interest of the country required. I have no concealment to make in regard to my views. I have never attached myself to one side or the other. I am independent; I mean to vote for measures as they come up according as it seems to me best and for the interest of my country, disregarding all party ties and party feelings, for I cannot say that I cordially agree with either side of the House.

I must say so far as the Democratic party is concerned, my prejudices are rather against them. I had always been against the Democrats; and the leading Democrats of my State have mostly turned out to be rebels, and a majority of them are now in rebel arms. I mean the Democratic politicians of my State. Such being the case, my prejudices were rather against them; but I did not know what they would be else where, and I reserved my right to determine the matter when I reached here.

Mr. Wadsworth.—In what I said there was no allusion to the gentleman, because I understood him to stand upon the State platform, and to still stand upon it. I would inquire of the gentleman if I am correct in that understanding.

Mr. Clay.—I voted for the platform in the Legislature and in the convention, and intend to be governed in my judgment by the State platform as laid down, as far as it is applicable to the times. I have made no repudiation of it, and I have given no vote which will not justify me in standing upon it. But these gentlemen seemed to arraign my colleagues as violating their pledges, because they voted for the present Speaker. The papers in my State take that ground, and these gentlemen seemed to follow in the same direction, and wanted to know whether they meant me or not.

I take the opportunity to explain myself now that I may not be misunderstood upon this subject. I do not intend to create any ill-feeling between my colleagues and myself. I desire to have the friendliest relations with all of them. Yet, gentlemen, I intend to act here for myself, not to be governed by anybody, to exercise my best judgment on all these questions, and to go home and face my constituents like an honest man, and tell them that I have done my duty according to the dictates of my own judgment.

I have made these remarks because this subject sprung up incidentally here. I should not have alluded to what has been said in the newspapers if it had not been for the course of my colleagues this evening. I intended to have passed it by; but as the question has come up here, I wished the House and the country to know my position, that there may not be any mistake about it.

The military yesterday were gathering up horses to mount soldiers, to send after the guerrillas. May the boys make a successful campaign.

OFFICIAL.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES, Passed at the First Session of the Thirty-eighth Congress.

[PUBLIC—No. 6.]
AN ACT relating to the admission of patients to the Hospitals for the Insane in the District of Columbia.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the Secretary of the Interior be authorized, in his discretion, during the existence of the present war, to admit into the Government Hospital for the Insane such transient insane persons as may be found in the District of Columbia without the means of self-support, to be there detained until they can be sent to their friends or proper places of residence, under the direction of the said Secretary of the Interior; whose duty it shall be to provide, therefore, the steps preliminary to their admission to be the same, except as to the affidavit of residence at the time they become insane, as are required in the case of indigent persons who become insane while residing in the District.

Approved, January 28, 1864.

[PUBLIC—No. 7.]
AN ACT making appropriations for the payment of invalid and other pensions of the United States for the year ending the thirtieth of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-five.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following sums be and the same are hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the payment of pensions for the year ending the thirtieth of June, eighteen hundred and sixty-five: For invalid pensions under various acts, one million dollars.

For pensions to widows, mothers, children, and sisters, under the first section of the act of fourth July, eighteen hundred and thirty-six; act of July twenty-first, eighteen hundred and forty-eight; first section of the act of February third, eighteen hundred and fifty-three; June third, eighteen hundred and fifty-four; and July fourth, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, two million two hundred thousand dollars.

Approved, January 29, 1864.

[PUBLIC RESOLUTION—No. 7.]
A RESOLUTION expressive of the thanks of Congress to Major General Nathaniel P. Banks and the officers and soldiers under his command at Port Hudson.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the thanks of Congress are hereby tendered to Major General Nathaniel P. Banks and the officers and soldiers under his command for the skill, courage, and endurance which compelled the surrender of Port Hudson, and thus removed the last obstruction to the free navigation of the Mississippi river.

Approved, January 29, 1864.

[PUBLIC RESOLUTION—No. 8.]
A RESOLUTION of thanks to Major General Ambrose E. Burnside and the officers and men who fought under his command.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the thanks of Congress be and they hereby are presented to Major General Ambrose E. Burnside, and through him to the officers and men who have fought under his command for their gallantry, good conduct, and soldier like endurance.

Sec. 2. And be it further resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to cause the foregoing resolution to be communicated to Major General Burnside in such terms as he may deem best calculated to give effect thereto.

Approved, January 29, 1864.

[PUBLIC RESOLUTION—No. 9.]
A RESOLUTION expressive of the thanks of Congress to Major General Joseph Hooker, Major General George G. Meade, Major General Oliver O. Howard, and the officers and soldiers of the Army of the Potomac.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the gratitude of the American people and the thanks of their Representatives in Congress are due, and are hereby tendered, to Major General Joseph Hooker and the officers and soldiers of the Army of the Potomac, for the skill, energy, and endurance which first covered Washington and Baltimore from the meditated blow of the advancing and powerful army of rebelled by General Robert E. Lee; and to Major General George G. Meade, and the officers and soldiers at Gettysburg, for the skill and heroic valor which at Gettysburg repulsed, defeated, and drove back, broken and dispirited, beyond the Rappahannock, the veteran army of the rebellion.

Approved, January 29, 1864.

[PUBLIC RESOLUTION—No. 10.]
A RESOLUTION presenting the thanks of Congress to Cornelius Vanderbilt for a gift of the steamship Vanderbilt.

Whereas Cornelius Vanderbilt, of New York, did, during the spring of eighteen hundred and sixty-two, make a free gift to his imperilled country of his new and staunch steamship "Vanderbilt," of five thousand tons burden, built by him with the greatest care, of the best material, at a cost of eight hundred thousand dollars, which steamship has ever since been actively employed in the service of the Republic against the rebel devastations of her commerce; and whereas the said Cornelius Vanderbilt has in no manner sought any reward or other consideration for this magnificent gift, nor any official recognition thereof: Therefore,

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the thanks of Congress be presented to Cornelius Vanderbilt for this unique manifestation of a fervid and large souled patriotism.

Sec. 2. And be it further resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to cause a gold medal to be struck, which shall fitly embody an attestation of the nation's gratitude for this gift; which medal shall be forwarded to Cornelius Vanderbilt, a copy of it being made and deposited for preservation in the library of Congress.

Approved, January 29, 1864.

The Pons Comet of 1810, which has been for some time attracting the attention of Astronomers, has made about its nearest approach to the earth, and probably is now visible, in the northeast, about 7 o'clock, P. M., to the eye; an opera-glass of moderate power will certainly show it.

Owen county has again been the theatre of attempted murder of Union men, by rebel scoundrels. Last week, the gang who recently broke open the jail of Owen, and released one of Morgan's band of horse thieves, way laid and attempted to murder Mr. George Simpson, and two men who were with him. Under the protection of Providence the men escaped.

The guerrillas infesting Owen, Grant and adjoining counties—in all probability returned rebel soldiers who have taken the oath of allegiance—have had away long enough; and we believe that our indefatigable Inspector General, by the direction of Governor Bramlette, will at once take steps to put it to their depredations. As fast as caught, we earnestly hope a drum-head court martial will set upon their cases, and give them each and all "a quick shrill and a short rope."

Cyrenius Wait, Esq., of Somerset, is urged by many persons of the district, to become a candidate for the State Senate, vice Judge Duster, deceased. Mr. Wait, is a good man; he has served in the Legislature, and no man was more faithful to his constituents and the best interests of the State.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 16, 1863.
On the 22d of July last I submitted, through an agent of mine, to the Medical Director of the Department of the Cumberland a sample of my Cedron Bitters for his inspection, and requested if, after analysis he found it meritorious, to sanction and approve its use among our soldiers.

The following is the Medical Director's reply, and also Gen. Rosecrans' permission to ship 300 dozen at once to have it sold to soldiers.

"I am satisfied that Cedron Bitters will do no harm to any one, if taken properly and in moderation. I see no objection to Dr. Bull's being permitted to dispose of it to soldiers."

No. 20, Renewal.

This is to certify, that J. M. Mills, as Agent of the ETNA Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., at Frankfort, Franklin county, has filed in this office the statements and exhibits required by the provisions of an act, entitled "An act to regulate the business of Foreign Insurance Companies," approved March 3, 1856; and it having been shown to the satisfaction of the undersigned that said Company is possessed of an actual capital of at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, as required by said act, the said J. M. Mills, as Agent aforesaid, is hereby licensed and permitted to take risks and transact business of insurance at his office in Frankfort for the term of one year from the date hereof. But this license may be revoked if it shall be made to appear to the undersigned that since filing of the statements above referred to, the available capital of said Company has been reduced below one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

[L. S.] In testimony whereof, I have set my hand the day and year above written.
